THE BROMLEY BOYS

"A boy, a girl, and the worst football team in Britain. You can't choose who you're going to fall in love with." The Bromley Boys, tells the story of David Roberts (Brenock O'Connor) and his love affair with his local football team Bromley F.C. We start in 1966 with England winning the World Cup and young Dave falling madly in love with the sport right afterwards. His passion for the game manifests in his desire to attend some live matches at one of the big teams, his parents, more specifically his Dad, Donald (Alan Davies) is against the idea. His Mum, Gertie (Martine McCutcheon) comes up with the idea of attending local small, very small in comparison, Bromley F.C. Reluctant at first, Dave decides to take his mum up on the offer and that's where his passion flourishes. During his time attending the matches, he meets Ruby McQueen the daughter of the owner of the football club who he begins to fall for.
